What's hot in Greater Palm Springs

Saturday, Apr 02, 2022

Greater Palm Springs offers nine-city oasis boasting more than 300 days of sunshine.

With a number of new hotel openings, restaurants and upcoming events, now is time to discover what's new in spring 2022.

New hotel opening

In May, a new boutique hotel will join the ranks of the desert's most eye-catching destination and dining spots. The Paloma Resort, a 66-room full-service resort hotel located adjacent to Palm Springs in Cathedral City, features an inviting open-to-the-public restaurant and lounge, spa services and event facilities for small to midsize events.

New spas in town

The first phase of The Oasis at Azure Palms Hot Springs and Day Spa Oasis in Desert Hot Springs is now open. Measuring more than one acre and adjacent to the largest mineral spring pool in Southern California, The Oasis features five flow through mineral pools. Guests can experience a gas-fired sauna radiating healthy negative ions and tread the winding path of the reflexology walk.

The new Palmera Spa & Wellness located inside Hotel Paseo features seven intimate treatment rooms. Enjoy traditional massage treatments for individuals or couples. Options include organic facials and therapeutic massages available with CBD and aromatherapy add-on enhancements.

New dining

In April 2022, the owners of Tac/Quila and FARM will open Front Porch. It will offer casual bites for dining in or take away. They will also open Clandestino, referred to as Tac/Quila's moody sister, in May 2022. Tucked away on a promenade in downtown Palm Springs, this new concept will include the fresh Mexican fare and craft cocktails of Tac/Quila. Clandestino diners can enjoy mountain views from its open-air patio.

Chad Gardner is the culinary force behind The Paloma's indoor/outdoor restaurant, Sol y Sombra, a tapas-style spot which is set to open in May 2022. Reflecting the desert's agricultural roots, Sol y Sombra incorporates local ingredients throughout its food and drink menus. Dates, grapefruit, chilis in unique combinations highlight the menu. Guests may choose to dine in the casual lounge with leather club chairs or experience a more intimate vibe in the dining room with its high wood-beamed ceilings.

An all-new cocktail experience has arrived at the Saguaro Palm Springs. Accessed through a hidden door, El Jefe Desert Cantina is part speakeasy, part lounge. Inside, the atmosphere is bold, relaxed and fun. The new cocktail menu features nearly 20 unique mezcal and tequila drinks, which are complemented with a menu celebrating Mexican street food.
