

Where travel agents earn, learn and save!

News / At Bolt Farm Treehouse, trees are about more than just luxury accommodations

Starting in April, a tree is planted for every guest, fueling worldwide reforestation efforts

This website uses cookies Cookies on this website are used to personalize content and advertisements.

More Info

Got it!

Through a partnership with the worldwide nonprofit One Tree Planted, Bolt Farm Treehouse now donates one tree per guest booking, to be planted as part of the organization's worldwide reforestation efforts. Guests also have the option to donate for additional plantings, each at a very reasonable rate of $1.

Nestled in the Appalachia region of Tennessee, Bolt Farm resides in areas affected by mining choices dating as far back as the 1700s. As an unintended consequence of legislation, compacting measures to prevent landslides and erosions left large swaths of land stripped of their native forests. This is just one of countless areas worldwide in which One Tree Planted works to restore healthy, thriving forests. Thanks to partner-donors, like Bolt Farm Treehouse, the organization planted nearly 53 million trees in 2022, spanning 242,592 acres—including nearly 15 million trees in North America. As a result, there are also countless species of animals that enjoy sustainable habitats—including in Appalachia, where forestation reestablished habitat for flying squirrel populations.

Travelers can be part of this positive impact when they book a stay at Bolt Farm Treehouse.

PUBLICATION DATE

Apr 21, 2023

Latest News

This website uses cookies Cookies on this website are used to personalize content and advertisements.

More Info