spectacular west coast between Mallaig and Fort William. During the train journey, guests will pass by Loch Shiel, the majestic outdoor area of Hogwarts from the movies and commonly called the Great Lake. From their train window, fans can also view the island of trees, Eilean na Moine, which is located on Loch Eilt in Lochaber. This island is featured as the setting for Dumbledore's grave, as seen in Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban and Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows.

Alnwick Castle: Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry

Fans of the film series can release their inner wizards and witches and rejoice as they descend upon the Alnwick Castle, famously known as the Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry, on the Castles and Broomsticks Day trip. Potterheads can have their broomsticks ready for lessons at the very same spot as young Harry did in Harry Potter and The Philosopher's Stone at the Outer Bailey. Hogwarts is where he mastered the wizarding sport of Quidditch and where Ron crashed his father's enchanted flying car. Guests can visit the Lion Arch in the castle, which was used as the route to Hagrid's hut and the Forbidden Forest. The Alnwick castle has been home to the Duke of Northumberland for over 700 years and is the second-largest inhabited castle in England. Guests can take advantage of the Early Bird offer on this tour*.

Glen Coe: Backdrop to Hagrid's Hut in Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban

Every Potter fan must remember the unique wooden cabin surrounded by pumpkins situated outside Hogwarts Castle against a stunning backdrop. This cabin is where Hagrid kept his unique pets, such as Norbert the dragon, Buckbeak the Hippogriff, and Fang, a large boarhound. It's also where Hermione and Harry used the Time-Turner to rescue Buckbeak in The Prisoner of Azkaban. Guests on the 6-day Isle Of Skye & Hebridean Hopper tour can witness the dramatic mountains and Glen Coe's gorgeous valley, which served as the filming location for Hagrid's Hut and three different outdoor sets in the Harry Potter series. The excursion includes explorations to thrilling landmarks, including the Kelpies, Loch Ness, the 5000-year-old Callanish standing stones on the Isle of Lewis and stop by the Harris Distillery to sample the national dram. Guests will wander throughout the wondrous Isle of Skye, Eilean Donan Castle, and can climb aboard the Jacobite Steam Train as an optional excursion before returning to Edinburgh. Guests can use the code SKYEHEB25 to save 25% on this tour for eligible departures before September 26th, 2024. Valid only on bookings made before June 30th, 2024*.
